

Take Over the Future: Youth Activism Summit

Today, more than ever before, children and youth are leading change in the world. They aren't waiting for adults to make change. Marches, petitions, protests, campaigns, in the streets, on social media and at the United Nations. Children and youth are taking over to create the future they want to see.

Join us at the first Youth Activism Summit!

On November 20, the 30th anniversary of the Convention on the Rights of the Child, young people will come together at the very first Youth Activism Summit (YAS!) to build on their advocacy skills and take over the future. They don't have another 30 years to wait for their rights to be fulfilled.

WHAT

UNICEF Canada is convening Canadian youth activists and everyday young advocates to share their skills, experiences, and priorities; learn about child and youth rights; and build on their advocacy skills.

WHEN

Wednesday, November 20th, 2019

WHERE

Toronto, Ontario (Venue to be confirmed)

WHO

- Youth activists: who are ready to inspire other youth with their skills and experiences
- Youth ages 12-24 (youth ages 12-18 will be given priority): who are passionate about making change in their communities, across Canada and around the world
- Adult allies: who can offer skills and perspectives on child and youth rights, advocacy and change-making.
